Appomattox 4-Hers Attending Camp

During the week of July 8-12, Appomattox sent its largest ever delegation to Holiday Lake 4-H Camp. Nearly 140 4-H members took part in the camping program from Appomattox and in addition nearly 100 4-Hers from neighboring Buckingham Co. attended.

Throughout the week, 4-Hers took part in class type activities such as woodcarving, rifle safety, canoeing, tie-dying, string art, candlemaking, fishing, team sports, nature study, horsemanship, beginners and intermediate swimming, life saving, and a host of others. Each 4-Her chose 4 classes to attend during the week.

In addition to classes, 4-Hers took part in afternoon games and sports which included volleyball, horseshoes, softball, basketball, and ping-pong. There were also water sports and games as well as time for free swimming.

Evening programs began with a vesper program and progressed to include such activities as a carnival, talent show, womanless beauty contest, grand march, and a watermelon feast. Each camper belonged to one of four Indian tribes (Sioux, Comanche, Cherokee, and Apache). Tribal competition each evening involved best dressed chief, squaw, and brave, best tribal song, best tribal yell, best war dance, and hog-calling contest, watermelon-eating contest, etc.

In addition to the campers, Mrs. Anne Coffey attended camp as a leader and an instructor in the string art class. Mrs. J. M. Cobb, Jr. served as camp nurse and was assisted by her son, Tom.

Eight teenager 4-Hers assisted the camp program as Junior Leaders: Lisa Dickerson, Cynthia Hix, Pam Moore, Donna Paulette, Joe Ford, Mike Hancock, Baxter Parris and Ricky Wingfield.

Campers attending from Appomattox this year were: Debbie Baldwin, Johnna Belter, Donna Baldwin, Susan Campbell, Carol Carson, Kim Carter, Martha Chandler, Elizabeth Coffey, Beverly Coleman, Tina Doss, Mary Dyess, Cheryl Elliott, Angela Ferguson, Charitta Ferguson, Crystal Ferguson, Ivette Ferguson, Sandra Ferguson, Verna Fleshman, Jacqueline Franklin, Jill Franklin, Mary Franklin, Joyce Garrett, Gina George, Susan George, Jane Guill, Pamela Guill, Sharon Guill, Cynthia Hamlett, Wendy Harris, Kimberly Hipps, Mary Hudson, Karen Johnson, Cynthia Lawhorn, Wendy Lee, Kathryn Lewis, Teresa Lively, Wendy McIntosh, Sheri McGuire, Laurie McLean, Lori Mitchell, Cynthia O'Brien, Susan Parris, Michelle Paulette, Lisa Phelps, Tina Phelps, Kelli Puryear, Sandra Reynolds, Cynthia Roach, Debbie Roach, Sharon Roach, Donna Robinson, Terri Robinson, Mary Slifko, Robin Spiggle, Renae Thomas, Faith Vaughn, Cheryl Walton, Laura Walton, Angela White, Sharon White, Lori Wooten, Penny Wooten, Ed Agee, Emmett Almond, Warren Baldwin, John Baxter, Duane Blanks, David Caldwell, Michael Campbell, Ronald Carter, Stephen Cobb, Neal Cole, Steve Conner, Gary Crawford, Chuck Cuneo, Andy Daulton, Jeffrey Daulton, Gregory Davis, Ernest Daye, Alonzo Dillard, Dwight Dixon, Keith Doss, Bruce Drinkard, Bud Elder, Samuel Ferguson, Robert Fleshman, Stephen Fore, John Foxwell, Andrew Fratrick, James Gilliam, Tommy Gilliam, J. PEACHES GALORE - Whether you pick your own or buy them at your favorite grocery store peaches are now in heavy supply. When purchasing peaches look at the background color. If it's creamy yellow to gold, the peaches are ripe. Because peaches must go through the shipping process you'll find that the peaches you purchase are ripe enough to reach sweet, juicy ripeness in a day or two. A good tip to remember is that firmness, size and redness has nothing to do with ripeness or flavor.

One additional note on the peaches you purchase is that one pound of peaches is equal to approximately three medium size peaches or 2 cups sliced.

TIN CAN SHORTAGE - Unless tinplate production is increased there is a possibility that a can shortage could affect upcoming crops. Particularly in California where the tomato and peach crop could be left in the field.

Veterans News

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q - Are female as well as male veterans a target of the Veterans Administration's "outreach" program which encourages high school dropouts to take advantage of the G. I. Bill education benefits?

A - Yes, but fewer of the female veterans are educationally disadvantaged. According to VA statistics, only two of every 100 women Vietnam Era veterans had not completed high school before separation from military service.

Q - Since the Veterans Administration, for effective planning purposes needs to know how many veterans it will be serving in the future, what has the agency to say about the veteran population in the immediate years ahead?

A - The veteran population, which currently stands in excess of 29.2 million, will continue to grow until late 1975, then start a steady decline, according to a recent VA projection.

Q - I understand the Veterans Administration is offering five-year, nonrenewable Veterans Group Life Insurance to veterans whose Servicemen's Group Life Insurance was terminated less than four years ago. When will this coverage be available?

A - On August 1, 1974, as authorized under the Insurance Act of 1974 (May 24). But application must be made within a year of that date.

Market Hog Shows

BLACKSBURG - Market hog shows are good summertime activities for Virginia 4-H and FFA members, advised H. John Gerken, Extension specialist in animal science at Virginia Tech.

Youth can obtain one or more feeder pigs in late spring, feed and care for them during the school vacation months and wind up in late summer or fall with a project to show and sell at the county fair or other livestock events, Gerken said.

Profit may be realized from the sale of an animal and the premiums won at the show. In any event, there will be the valuable experience of feeding, caring for and showing a farm animal plus the assurance that our nation's supply of red meat will continue.

Girls, too, can enjoy a market hog project. Take, for instance, 11-year-old Cathy Cannon of Spotsylvania who had the champion market hog at the 1973 Virginia Market Hog Show in Emporia.

Special market hog shows at which 4-H and FFA members exhibited this year included the 1974 State Market Hog and Trade Show July 24 and 25 in Emporia, the Tech specialist said.

Four-H and FFA members can enter and participate in area shows to be held Aug. 8 at Farmville, Aug. 14 at Courtland, Sept. 12 and 13 at Petersburg or the State Junior Mkt. Hog Show which will be held Sept. 21-23 at the State Fair in Richmond.

There are also a number of county and area fairs that will provide opportunities for youth to exhibit their swine and other livestock projects, Gerken added.

The Virginia Feeder Pig Association is a major sponsor of 4-H and FFA market hog shows in Virginia, providing a handsome silver tray as a sweepstakes award to top junior exhibitors at swine shows all across the state.

If you're a young person looking for "something to do during the summertime, consider a market hog project. It could be rewarding. Ask your 4-H leader, Extension agent or agriculture instructor for help in getting started.

The church school was well attended at the 10 a.m. hour. The offering was good for the morning.

Supt. John A Watson expressed regrets because the Bus Committee was unable to secure a bus to convey the school to the picnic that had been planned for July 20th. Supt. Watson stressed that in the near future they would go. We hate to disappoint children because a promise is a promise to a child.

We are still sending up prayers for those of us here and elsewhere who are sick. We pray that God in his own time and way may restore the sick to good health.

Keep in mind that our next church Sunday will be our revival meeting. Let us be thinking of what we will give to help feed the audience on the first Sunday in August. Let us puch and pull together and every thing will work out well for us. The first Sunday will be on the fifth of August. Our time is growing short.

In and out of town:

Miss Sally Carroll and the niece of Miss E. H. Jordan was a recent visitor in Historic Appomattox. Miss and Mrs. Carroll make their home in Newark, N. J. Her aunt, Miss E. H. Jordan was very pleased to have her niece to visit with her. Miss Beatrice James, who has been teaching in Germany for two years has returned to resume her work of teaching in Richmond.

Miss Sally Carroll has returned to her home after spending a lovely vacation with her aunt, Miss E. H. Jordan.

Miss Ruthie Turner, from Jersey City, N.J., is visiting with Miss E. H. Jordan this week. Miss Ruthie Turner is the daughter of Miss E. H. Jordan's sister, the late Mrs. Anna Turner. We trust that Miss Ruthie Turner will also have a nice quiet vacation here with her aunt, Miss E. H. Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dowdy of Baltimore, Md., came down to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Lloyd Paige on Saturday. She was the aunt of Mr. Charles Dowdy. The late Mrs. paige was laid to rest in Mt. Shiloh Baptist Cemetery Saturday at 1 p.m. The Rev. R. Q. Lawing was in charge of the funeral services. The Hutcheson Funeral Home of Lynchburg took care of the body.

Mr. Dowdy's two sons were with him from Maryland.

While in Spout Spring The Dowdys visited the Messres Howard and George Stevens and family in Appomattox. The two Dowdy boys spent the night and was breakfast guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stevens. All of the Stevens family were proud to see the Dowdys. We have been friends through the years.

Mr. W. Howard Stevens attended the funeral services of the late Mrs. Hughes of Farmville. Mrs. Hughes was the mother of Mrs. Beatrice Hughes Wilson, formerly of Farmville, but now reside in Baltimore.

After attending the funeral in Farmville, Mr. W. Howard Stevens journeyed to Green Bay, where he attended revival services at the Levi Baptist Church. Mr. Stevens met many of the friends who worked with him in Baltimore, Md. He said the fellowship was great because a bus load of singers were there from Maryland to sing songs of paise. Mr. Stevens visited Mr. and Mrs. Street in Crewe, a friend of long standing. Mr. Stevens enjoyed the day.

See you next week!!!

If you drive past the exit you wanted, don't try backing up. Proceed to the next exit and circle around. The few extra minutes spent could well save a life.
